

What's Happening at Cornell Farms

November/December, 2008

We finally have the cattle home and have started to wean the calves. This involves separating the calves from their mothers. We have to keep a close eye on them, to make sure they don't get sick.

We start by moving the cattle into our handling facility. Here's Gordon and Kim moving them into the tub and alleyway.

Here's Gordon closing the door in the tub to move them down the alleyway to be weighed. The cattle are behind the giant door.

They then make their way to the scale. Here's Kim weighing one of the cows.

Once they are weighed, the head-gate is opened and they can walk out. It works really well with little stress on the animals.

Also in November, Kim and Rebecca judged the Manitoba Hereford Show at the Livestock Expo in Brandon. This was Rebecca's first time judging so it was an exciting time. They did an excellent job.

While we were away, Gordon and Jeannine attended the Fort Frances Chamber of Commerce Business Awards Banquet.

Cornell Farms was excited to be named Entrepreneur of the Year. What an honour!

Just a reminder that we now have a new web site: www.cornellfarms.ca. We would like all of you to make sure to take a look at it. Besides all the information you need to know about our business, we also have a gallery of both historical and new pictures, and a list of "What's New" at Cornell Farms.
