

What's Happening at Cornell Farms

September, 2009

We've had a very busy month. Pat took Garnet down to the University of Guelph in early September. He is starting his first year in Earth Surface Science. Here's a picture of him moving into his room.

Rebecca is also back in Guelph, working with a researcher helping him analyze the data she collected this summer for the MNR. It is only a part-time job so she is also doing some work with some of the local veterinarians. Her hope is to apply again to vet school in the new year.

It's been a bit of a challenge getting all the work done without our right-hand help. It's great that even at 80 Kim's dad still loves to drive equipment. He's been great at baling and combining.

Here's a couple of pictures of the work that goes into getting enough small bales for the winter. We now have 500 square bales of hay and 300 square bales of straw in our barn – exactly where the concert was.

We had a overflow crowd for our Wild Turkey Concert on September 12th. It was also Kim's birthday so lots of fun for everyone. The Ivall Family from Rainy River opened with great harmonies and unique songs. The "Turkey's rendition of "Swamp-Stomp Country" was great fun. Here are a few pictures of the evening. Our celebration cake for the last concert of the evening; the Ivall family, the Wild Turkey's and the Vaughn the percussion man for the Turkey's.

More pictures can be found on our website www.cornellfarms.ca.

