

What's Happening at Cornell Farms

Summer, 2015

The summer has been very busy at Cornell Farms. The cattle are now all out on pasture and we've had a great run on breeding bull sales including some to southern Ontario and Manitoba.

We've also had a good start on the haying.

This year we wrapped some bales, specifically a mixture of oats, barley and peas.

Markets have been very busy – Fort Frances, Kenora, Thunder Bay, Sioux Lookout and we will start going to Red Lake later in the month. Even though the price of beef continues to rise, we can hardly keep up.

We had lots of trips down east. Pat was joined by her mother and sister Brenda at her conference in Niagara Falls. The entire family attended a family wedding on the Clysdales family farm in June. Here's a picture of all the Clysdales! Garnet also went to the Osheaga Music Festival in Montreal. Our most recent trip was to attend Pat's parent's 60th Wedding Anniversary. Here's a picture of Pat and her 5 sisters with their parents. It was a great party.

Our first concert of the season was Brent Newman and Rough Cut Pine. Brent is originally from the Fort Frances area but now makes his home in London, England. We were glad to have them start off the 100th Anniversary year of the Cornell Barn. The evening was also a fundraiser for the local Community Chest charity which helps local people with health care costs not covered by other means. $4500 was raised. Other activities included an auction, games and a barnyard bingo.

The next concert will be August 24th with Union Duke. <http://www.cornellfarms.ca/uploads/unionduke.pdf>

Pat was also busy with the Harmony of Nations Music Festival. Check it out at www.harmonyofnations.ca
